School of Law

Office of the Dean

Dear Law School Graduate:

It is a pleasure to present you with this, the 1990 Alumni Directory of the Washington University School of Law. The 1986 Alumni Directory has become progressively obsolete. There were then approximately 4,000 living alumni of the School of Law. Today there are about 25,000, a 25% increase. Unfortunately, some who appeared in the previous directory have subsequently passed away. Many more have changed addresses, employers, or even careers.

This Directory generally follows the format of the 1986 Directory. A few features have been added. All the faculty and deans of the School of Law from its inception in 1867 are listed in the introductory pages. Those alumni and faculty who have received honorary degrees from Washington University, the School of Law's Distinguished Alumni Award, or the University's Founders' Day Award are also remembered.

In my three years as dean, I have been impressed by the deep affection, manifested by both word and deed, in which so many of you hold the School of Law. I am also impressed by the number of graduates who have risen to positions of leadership in the profession, on the bench, in business, and in public service, which, together with the geographic dispersion of our alumni, contributes to our growing stature as a national law school. Inside the back cover is a map illustrating the distribution of law graduates throughout the United States.

I hope you make frequent use of this Directory to keep up with classmates and other friends. When local counsel is needed in another city, you may find a fellow graduate available. Should you need a lawyer with particular expertise, it is likely that a Washington University graduate has specialized in the area.

Please take a few moments to familiarize yourself with the contents of the Directory and perhaps reminisce about friends from law school. If you find errors or omissions, let us know. And if information about you changes in the future, please communicate it to us promptly.

Best regards.

Cordially,

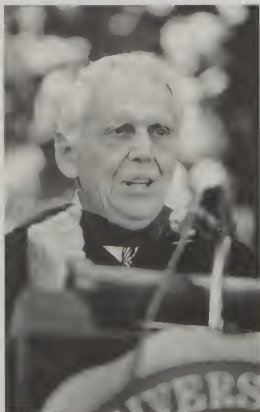

Dorsey D. Ellis, Jr.

Professor Susan F. Appleton teaching class.

*Lecturers in law and adjunct professors were used to supplement classroom and practical instruction.

While we have made every effort to prepare a complete and accurate list of the School of Law faculties, information reported from year-to-year was not always consistent. Included are visiting professors who had appointments during the regular academic year.

ALPHABETICAL LISTINGS

The biographical entry includes a listing of the degree(s) received from the School of Law and class year(s). If two addresses are listed for an alumnus or alumna, the business address precedes the residence address. If only the residence address is listed, it is preceded by "r.". Married alumnae are listed under both their married and maiden names.

Quarterly and Journal Subscriptions

Subscriptions to the Washington University Law Quarterly and the Washington University Journal of Urban and Contemporary Law bring you articles by leading professors, practicing lawyers, and other authorities on issues ranging from criminal discovery to environmental liability in real-estate transactions.

Order one volume (four issues) of the Washington University Law Quarterly and, while supplies last, receive a complimentary copy of F. Hodge O'Neal Corporate and Securities Law Symposium, volume 67:2 (1989), or Festschrift: A Celebration of the Scholarship and Teaching of Gray L. Dorsey, volume 65:4 (1987). Subscriptions are available for $20.00 per year ($24.00 per year for international delivery).

Subscription to Washington University Journal of Urban and Contemporary Law entitles you to a complimentary copy (while supplies last) of the Fall 1989 volume, with its Housing Symposium on housing code enforcement, density bonus incentives, and private and public responses to urban housing needs. Subscriptions are available for $18.00 per year ($22.00 per year for international delivery.)
